Anne de Villeméjane is an established French Artist currently residing in New York

Inspired by the human figure, her sculptures dive into a dimension augmented by an array of textural experimentations, including : cement, metal, crystal acrylic and bronze.

Her viewers are left having embarked on a textural and emotional journey. Anne is the designer of the audience award for the In French New York Film Festival. Her work has been exhibited with various galleries and Art fairs throughout the US, Europe and Middle East.
